

Fluorescence: examples of application

3D reconstruction of a liver organoid, virtually sectioned to reveal the localisation of different cell types within. Each fluorescent marker corresponds to a different cell population.

Flat view of a 3D-reconstructed zebrafish tissue sample, where each fluorescent marker indicates a different protein.